

Persepolis Project Pathfinder (PPP)
Fall 2014

Print:

A cart of books has been pulled for your convenience since there are a number of students utilizing the same resources, but keep the following points in mind as you utilize these resources:

- Not all resources have been pulled onto this cart. I encourage you to look for yourselves to determine if there is something still out in the collection.
- If you find something else, please include it on the cart.
- The public library also has a large collection from which to pull resources.
- All students can borrow from the Carmel Clay Public Library (CCPL).

Digital Print:

Gale Reference Virtual Library (GRVL) : Available from the media center webpage under “databases.” Click on “Gale Reference Virtual Library” and then feel free to use the search bar at the top of the page to search all the resources at once, or scroll down to the “History” section to explore a single resource. These are digitized reference books that offer significant amounts of quality information.

NOTE: The CCPL’s GRVL has a few more books than ours does. Please access it online from the CCPL website under their 24/7 tab. Use CCPL as the password when prompted.

Databases:

Inspire : Bottom of page : Student Resource Center : Click on box that states “Primary Source Documents” : Use the box at the top of the page for a topic or use the “advanced search” for even more accurate searching

Inspire : Academic : Academic Search Premier : Use the advanced search page. Be sure to click on “full text” button so that all the resources you get will be full text. Use search terms as sparingly as possible. In other words, get to the heart of the topic. Instead of “What were the origins of Islam” use “origins Islam.”

ABC-CLIO : American History : Click on the words “American History” to enter into that part of the database. Once there, typing in “liberty 18th century” brings some great results.

CHS eLibrary / Proquest : eLibrary : Type in “Rene Descartes” and use the limiters on the left-hand side of the page to narrow your results

CHS eLibrary / Proquest : ProQuest Historical Newspapers (Graphical or Traditional) : Type your topic (for this example we will use “islam”) in the search bar : Under “advanced search” click on decade and choose “1850s”

CHS Gale : U.S. History in Context / CHS Gale : World History in Context : Using search bar at the top of the page, type in your topic and click on “primary sources” above the bar : use limiters on left-hand side of the page to further narrow your results.

CHS Grolier : Click on “High School” tab at the top of the page : Use the search term “Che Guevara” as an example of the types of resources to be found in this database.

Online Resources:

Digital Public Library of America (DPLA) : <http://dp.la/>

This is a phenomenal site that offers some of the best primary sources available. Use the search bar and try “karl marx and materialism” and from there look for limiters on the side bar if necessary. HINT: Click on “view object” and you will get to the full text or full picture of the items.

The Library of Congress American Memory : <http://memory.loc.gov/ammem/index.html>

NOTE: There are over 5 million items available online to us about our nation’s history, but this is inexorably linked with world history and so does apply to your research. According to the site itself, there are, “written and spoken words, sound recordings, still and moving images, prints, maps, and sheet music that document the American experience.” Explore this site a great deal and you will be sure to find some interesting pieces to include in your presentation. NOTE: Not all topics will be a good fit here, but the ones that are produce very worthwhile results.

Happy hunting and be sure to stop by my office if you need further assistance in finding what you need for this project!
